Currently, the Nepal has restructured in federal structure and to implementation of the constitution of Nepal, The government has accomplished election in 753 local level, 77 District of 7 provinces and federal level through democratic election process. As a result, 773 mayor/president, 773 vice mayor/ vice president, 6742 ward president, 26790 ward member, Likewise, 550 province assembly member, 275 house of representative were selected. And 59 Constituent Assembly members are in selecting process. The people are almost 70% participation in local level election with contentedly to select their representative. At this context, the government has been developing policy and guideline to implementation of local level, province and central level government. The local level government has been functioning to provide service delivery for community people. The government has released local level implementation act 2074, Governance guideline 2074 and other model policy and guideline. It seems Nepal has been changing and transforming toward the sustainable development and Community people are positive aspect from the local level election and their representative.

Although, the contextual change has faced some risk. Because the seven months has been passing of local level election. The community people feel no different than previous government service delivery process. So, Nepal is under sever transition phase for last few years armed conflict and political instabilities are main causes. The transition phase itself a big challenge for good governance and sustainable peace in Nepal Because of the lack of monitoring and controlling mechanism at local level. Therefore, Nepal is facing of blamed of corrupt country from the international community. The Nepal last year annual report has been disappointing on corruption control and Governance. According to the Transparency International report that Corruption Control Index 2016, Nepal has been ranked in the 31st position in maintaining good governance among the 176 countries and got 29 no. out of total 100 point. It seems Nepal is 45th corruption country in 176 country in world.

4. Lessons Learned

During this period HRPLSC has learn from the different level of project implementation. Those are as follow:

- ❑ Evidence based advocacy through dialogue may effect on policy reform, and it can achieve on inclusion, responsiveness and accountable to duty barrier. For example, HRPLSC has done advocacy with district stakeholders and political party members base on the Comprehensive Peace Agreement TRC and CEIDP act and The local government cannot recognized to conflict victims because Local Government Act 2055 Section 25(J) and Section 28(K) does not recognized to conflict victims to address TJ and conflict victims issue. As result, the Local government realised and accountable toward conflict victims. Now, local government call to conflict victims' representative in their program even in planning process. Except this, many local government release budget to conflict victims for skill developmentthe of conflict victims.
- ❑ It is necessary to coordination and collaboration and constructive engagement with government, Civil Society and private sector and other concerned stakeholders for achieve result, to change policy and system and positive engagement of Gov. Representative for coalition. It is effective tools for coalition for creative intervention. For example the government has failed to respect for conflict victims at nation although HRPLSC has initiated to build peace memorials with constructive engagement of Gov. officials that the result is positive in every district government agencies, political leader, conflict victims and their families were ready to support to build peace memorial in the district. Finally, DCC has supported to financial and technical support. It seems, collaboration and regular follow up make accountable and develop ownership to stakeholders.
- ❑ Collaboration and joint intervention with media is an effective tool to make efficiency of program because media have types of power to wider publication. It make sensitive and accountable to stakeholders for example, Nepal government call all conflict victims to fill up form for additional relief and the deadline to fill up form was very short. In that time HRPLSC has given information through FM and mobilized HRPLSC staffs as well as TJPF member to relay information to all the conflict victims. As a result every conflict victims has success to get additional relief.

- ☐ After the restructuring of the state as local level, province and federal structure. It's necessary to build capacity of elected people representative of local level on governance, level policy and guideline to promote transparency and accountability and make accountable toward the effective service delivery.

5. Planning

Currently, Nepal has been restored in federal structure in local, federal and province level. The Nepal constitution has provision rights and responsibility under the constitution annex 8, 9. And the government has accomplished election in 753 local level, 77 District of 7 provinces and federal level. The government has been developing policy and guideline to implementation of local level, province and central level government. The local level government has been functioning to provide service delivery for community people. The government has released local level implementation policy 2074. At the right time, to effective implementation of local level and effective of public service delivery and resource use some capacity building and technical intervention have to done at local. That's as below;

- ☐ Local level have lack of monitoring mechanism so encourage to them for formation of third party monitoring of local level public services and resource use.
- ☐ Build capacity of elected people representative by organization training and workshop on local level policy and guideline.
- ☐ Support to develop policy of local level on entitlement budget guideline.
